

The CEC Trade Show is a premier venue for engaging directly with senior-level professionals who influence purchasing, partnerships, and strategic direction across the grain, feed, and processing industry.

This event offers suppliers the opportunity to gain visibility, build credibility, and present their solutions to those with the authority to act. Exhibitors benefit from high-value conversations, targeted networking, and the potential to forge long-term business relationships that drive growth and innovation. At CEC, it's about connecting with the people who shape the future of agribusiness.

The CEC Trade Show attracts over 450 attendees from across the grain and feed industry.

Attendees include grain merchants, elevator owners and operators, feed manufacturers, processors, and senior-level executives from small businesses and major suppliers. These professionals are key decision-makers who influence purchasing, partnerships, and strategic direction within their organizations.
