

Juan Pedro Luengas specializes in structuring risk-management strategies for the agribusiness sector, combining deep technical expertise with practical market insight. With more than a decade of experience in financial markets, public policy, and education, he has led initiatives to strengthen agricultural market development and price protection in Mexico. At TPAC, he manages relationships with producers, industrial clients, and corporate partners, delivering customized solutions. Luengas holds dual degrees in Applied Mathematics and Economics from ITAM and has taught Advanced Macroeconomics at Universidad Panamericana.