

Jared Flinn

Entrepreneur | Speaker | Storyteller

Jared Flinn is a nationally recognized entrepreneur, speaker, and storyteller in the trucking and agriculture industry. He is best known for his hit YouTube and media series that highlight the heart of rural America, sharing real stories of family businesses, farmers, and truckers who keep the country moving.

As the co-founder of BulkLoads.com and the broader Bulk ecosystem (BulkTMS, Smart Freight Funding, Bulk Insurance, Bulk Permitting, and more), Jared has spent over a decade building platforms that serve thousands of small businesses across the U.S. ag and transportation supply chain.

Jared speaks passionately about leadership, entrepreneurship, faith, family, and purpose-driven business. His talks blend practical business lessons with powerful personal stories, encouraging audiences to build companies that serve others and leave a lasting legacy.

Jared resides in Missouri with his wife and kids, where he continues to serve the Lord, build the Bulk brand, and travel the country speaking at conferences, universities, churches, and industry events.
